Gale is pleased to welcome all interested persons across Humanities and Social Sciences departments to attend an exciting 3-hour product showcase on Gale Primary Sources.

Why should I attend?
Over the past 20 years, Gale has partnered with prestigious source libraries to digitise over 250 million pages of primary sources for scholars and students. These primary source collections have been widely used by world ranking universities to shed new light on 7 centuries of literary, political, and social culture. Wits do not currently have access to any of the unique resources being showcased so it is an opportunity for faculty and library staff to learn how Gale Primary Sources can empower research and why they are now an integral part of the researcher and student workflow at universities worldwide.

Who should attend?
Any Librarian or Faculty member in the Humanities and Social Sciences

Why is this important?
These resources will add great value to research opening up new avenues of enquiry for research projects as well as improving student engagement and outcomes.

All of the Gale Primary Sources are multidisciplinary
Topic driven collections: Women’s Studies, Gender Studies, Slavery and Anti – Slavery. These resources are essential resources for anyone in these fields:

- Population Studies
- Labour Policies
- Globalisation
- Demography
- Diversity Studies
- Arts and Culture Studies

Monograph collections: Making of the Modern World, Making of Modern Law, Eighteenth Century Collections Online, and Nineteenth Century Collections Online. These resources are essential resources for anyone in these fields:

- Law
- Commerce
- Management
- Social Science
- Literature
- Arts

Global newspaper brands: Financial Times Historical Archive, The Economist Historical Archive, International Herald Tribune Historical Archive, Daily Mail Historical Archive. These resources are essential for anyone in these fields:

- Arts and Culture
- Contemporary History
- Gender and Women’s Studies
- Humanities and Social Sciences
- Journalism
- Media Studies
- Politics and International Relations
- Regional History
- Religion and Philosophy

Join us on 2nd August to learn more and find out how these collections can benefit you